THAT WAS THAT

VOC V CCG,

I wish to have people with highest talent and widest experience.

Welcome on a early summer's morning the horrors of scorched, CCG , dreadfully 35 all out, threshing so far away that you could shut your eyes and almost pretend, it never happened, let be honest, without strong leadership or authentic authority in battlefield, without captaincy (ware de Vore) CCG have no team in competitive position to compete in the tournament. no doubt, we are holding second position in row.

Regarding the history of CCG that we never face such kind of disarray or panic in the last 3 matches, thank's God our Captain is back with authority and commend, troops are more discipline and confidence of team is back and CCG is again in shining track of winning the battles same like previous " business as usual" cricket is a intellectual sport, confidence and pressure, inner steel of nerve and extreme concentration during the heat of battle, it is important the Captain wield the authority.

Its happened last sunday, the brilliant 140 partnership between M Overdijk and A de Geer, the centre role in this episode played by M Overdijk, when show was near the end, hero must fight his best to save this battle with extremely hellfire to destroy the hope of anime with 3 huge 6 sexes, his skill and technique and coming in line of the ball is unimaginable, connecting the ball in sweet spot of the bat is a unbelievable skill and concentration, pure cricketing genius, 3 sexes in row, it is an other level and class, heart rendering and joy he provided for cricket lover is sublime. 35 balls and 73 run incredible nock. Well don Sir,

A de Geer,

Business as usual" smooth operators, genius as usual, every shot he played it's merit, mostly he played to leg side, he is very strong, lately, with the passage of age the only shot left with force is leg side or leg squire that is reason the bowlers 2 time strongly appeal against LBW, but he always left the crease to avoid the LBW, intelligent thinking. He is a very silky players, he treats the ball with consummate ease, superb 73 run inspired CCG victory against VOC, they have strong bowling attack, they destroy our main line batsmen, at that moment 4 out 110 run M.Overdijk, the main gladiator accelerated the speed with A de Geer, CCG end up 265 huge total, putting them under pressure right in the beginning was marvelous.

It was turning point in the match, a sky high catch took by grumpy old man(Chaudhry) it was their best batsman (South African) he makes most of the runs for them, actually he puts them under pressure, that was huge wicket, after that particular wicket they could not rehiblitate their spirit (inning) they were became immune(sensitization) because of the collapse. Bannink the only batsman who resist for a while, but unfortunately he lost continually his partners, that make for him more pressure, at the end he give up, it was perfect Yorker,by our great captain W de Vore, Bannink end up with available 75 run, alas, he is the brave soldiers with loosing side.

Chaudhry, business as usual, spin bowling is about masks and disguises sleights of hand and tempting ares, Batsmen reach for ball that is not there, or adopt a superior air ignoring the the one that seems set to go past but then inexplicably changes course, they are rendered illiterate- unable to read the spinning ball, the highest exhibition produce by our great genius Chaudhry, no doubt, without keeper it was not possible M Overdijk took two sharp catch behind the wicket it should be 3 but one get drooped. It is all in the game. Masterfully crafted spell, took 3 wicket for 7 over.

All credit goes to our Genius captain Ware de Vore, In my experience were two thing a deep appercitation of the game and great understanding of Character they are captain's key ingredients, art of captaincy is putting all your efforts, watched the game intently and encouraged every one else in the team. That our captain did and always accomplishing the task.

Achieving the goal, cricket gives you mental relaxation, Chaudhry arrange drinks and snacks again, 6 people paid, but our gracious COS of his firm Hogendoorn sponsor 50€ plus 30€ victor the great total 172€, perfect celebration, that is why CCG is a famous cricket club in Holland. That is all Gentlemen.
